

Freedom Hall (formerly Milner Hall) is a co-ed Hall of Residence at the St. Augustine Campus of the University of the West Indies. Freedom Hall is very accessible both from campus internally and externally. The Hall borders the campus on the north-east and is within five minutes walking to all campus' facilities. The two main towns in close proximity to the Hall are: Curepe on the west and Tunapuna on the east. Both are within 10-15 minutes' walk from the Hall.

Freedom Hall is the oldest of the Halls of Residence at the St. Augustine campus of the University of the West Indies. It has been in existence for over 75 years and has been the home of many regional and international students. It has contributed immensely to their academic and social development. Freedom Hall was part of the original Imperial College of Tropical Agriculture that was acquired by the University of the West Indies in 1960. It was subsequently enlarged and can now accommodate 330 students.

The newly refurbished Canada Hall is a traditional-styled hall. It consists of two 3-storey dormitory blocks (North Block and South Block). The hall boasts spacious grounds and is ideally located in close proximity to the Sir Frank Worrell playing field and the Student Activity Centre. The Hall attracts a diverse population of students from all over the Caribbean. Canada Hall is best suited for visitors who enjoy being near to the Faculties and campus community.

Canada Hall was the first hall of residence constructed for the St. Augustine Campus in 1963. There was a major renovation exercise undertaken between 2011 and 2016. The refurbishment involved the modernization and extension of the dormitories. In addition to the room upgrades the Hall now boasts kitchen appliances (refrigerators, gas ranges and microwaves), a new lobby and common areas, new furniture and fittings as well as the introduction of solar water heating facilities.

Canada Hall has a total of 168 single rooms arranged in groups of 5 or 6. Each group of rooms has its own kitchen, dining and common room, as well as shared bathroom and toilet facilities. The rooms offer each resident privacy, comfort and wonderful views of the main campus and the hills overlooking the St. Augustine area through large windows.
